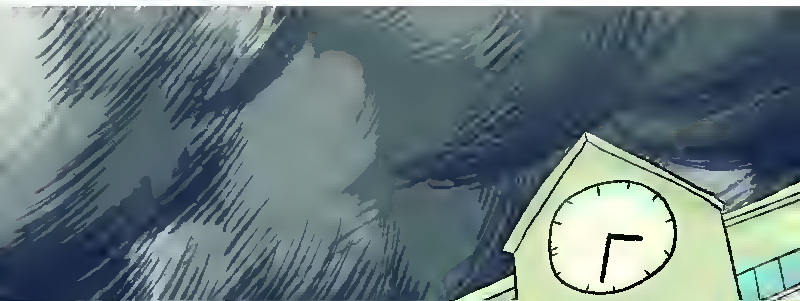
Overhead, the sky is dark and gloomy.
It's been like that all day.
There is a storm brewing...
At least, I hope there is.

I've never seen a storm before!
beep!
You have reached your destination.
Woah.

This can't be right...
Oliver must have given me the wrong address...
Unless...

Oliver lives in a mansion?!



Meisha!

She said yes!

What?
Amy said yes! We're going to homecoming together!
No way...
It's true!

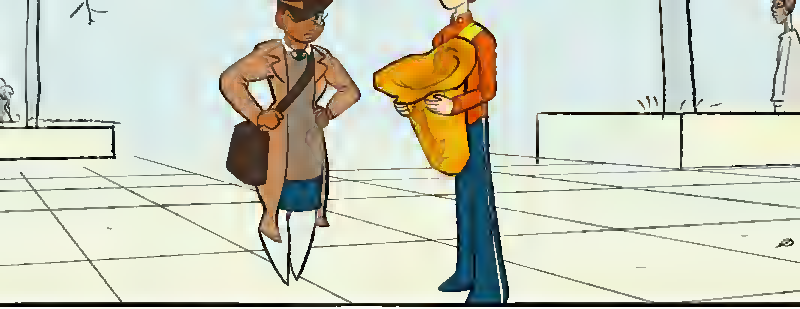
Thanks so much for your help, Meisha.
I couldn't have done it without you.
Aw, Zeph...
FOOMP!
OW!

What was that for?

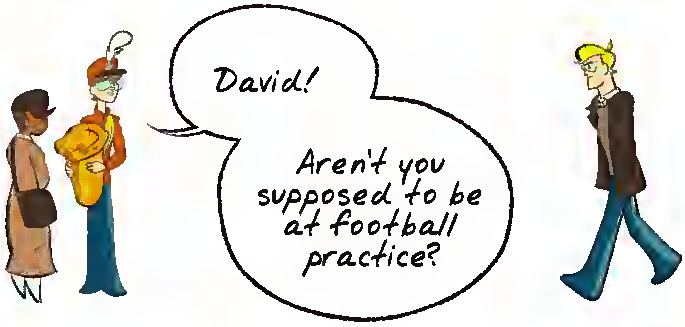
I'm proud of you.
You got guts.

Next time just shake my hand like a normal person...

What happened to your tuba?
Oh, uh...
I dropped it.
Don't worry though--
It's just a piece of junk my dad got at a garage sale.
Hey!
Maybe now he'll let me play the trumpet...

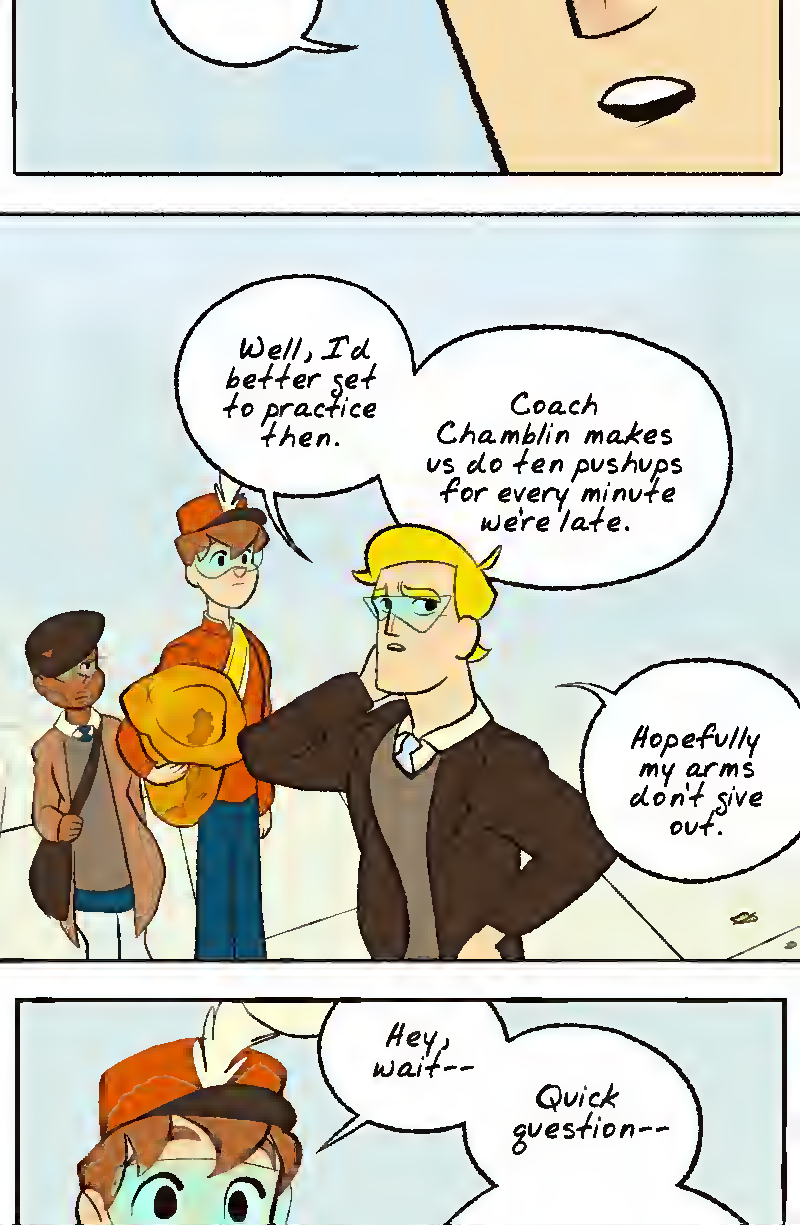


Hey, guys...



David!
Aren't you supposed to be at football practice?

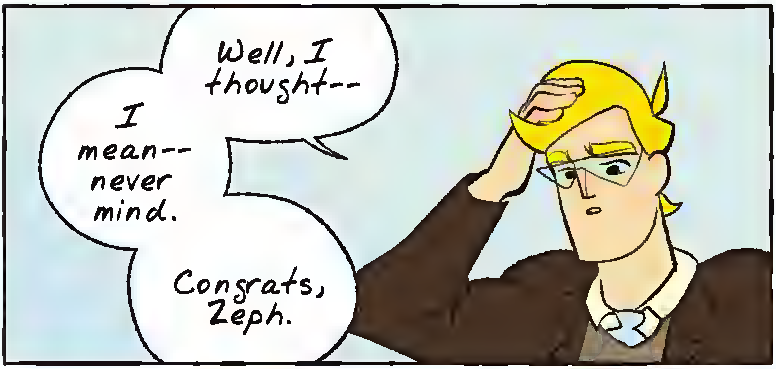
Yeah--
I wanted to talk to Amy though.
Have you guys seen her?
She left campus a while ago.
Said she had to meet up with someone to work on a project.
Hmmm...
Okay.



Well, I'd better get to practice then.
Coach Chamblin makes us do ten pushups for every minute we're late.
Hopefully my arms don't give out.
Hey, wait--
Quick question--

Would it be okay if Amy and I joined you and Cassie for homecoming?
Amy?
Yeah.
She's my date for the dance!
Really...

Surprised?

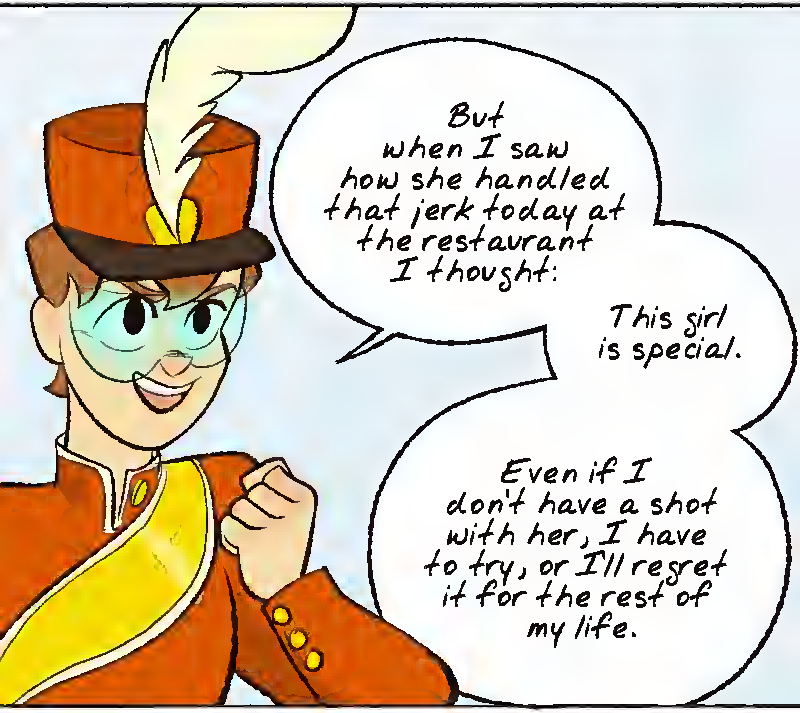


Well, I thought--
I mean-- never mind.
Congrats, Zeph.

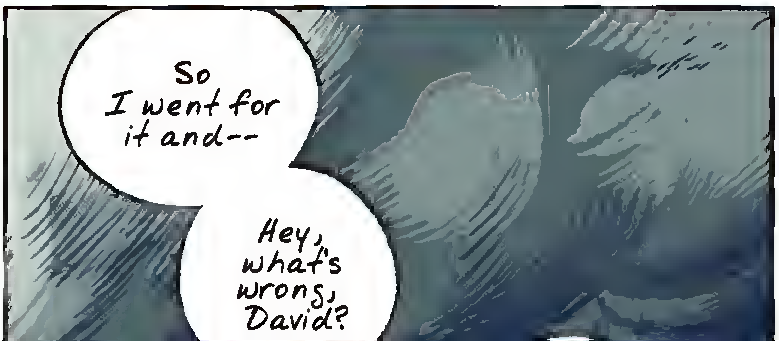
Thanks!

I could hardly believe

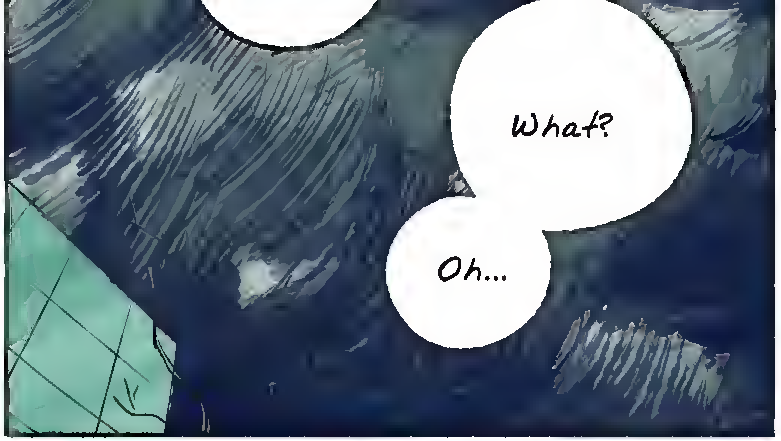
it when she said yes.
I was totally convinced the rumors were true...
Rumors?
Yeah--
You know, about her secretly dating someone.



But when I saw how she handled that jerk today at the restaurant I thought:
This girl is special.
Even if I don't have a shot with her, I have to try, or I'll regret it for the rest of my life.

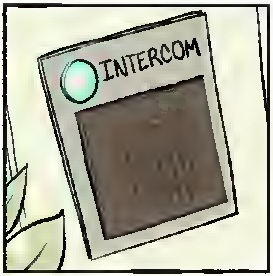


So I went for it and--
Hey, what's wrong, David?



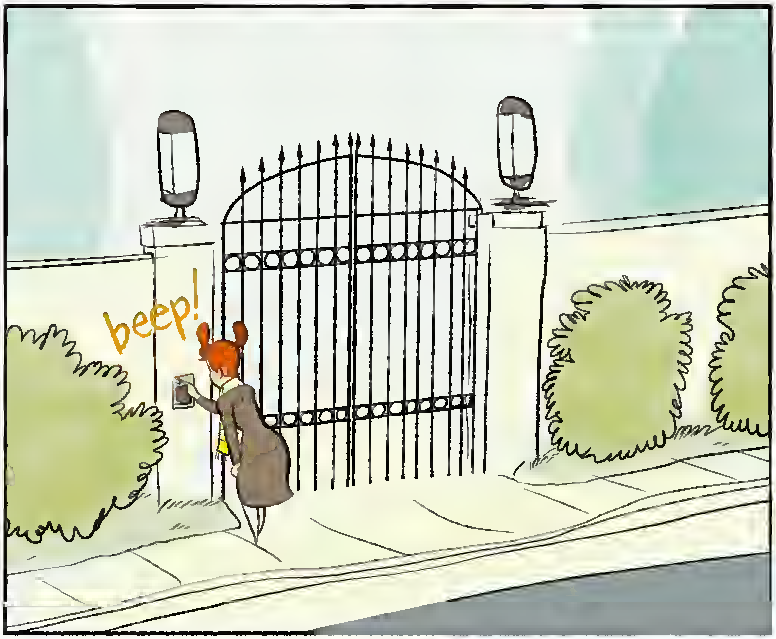
What?
Oh...

It's nothing.



INTERCOM

Ammm...



beep!

INTERCOM Hello?

Um, hi.
I'm here to see Oliver...
Who's this?
My name's Amy. I--
Oh! Let me buzz you in.
I'll meet you at the front door.
